MUSICAL THEATER SCHOLARSHIP PROJECT

Julia Schillaci designed costumes for Acting Up's piece "Consider Yourself" in the 2019 Annual Performance. She put together a beautiful display board shared in the studio. These pictures of her project don't do her work justice! We can't wait to see her costumes shine on stage!

Julia Schillaci
Charles Simmons AKA Patches
- Hat
- The hat is a newsboy hat but I decided to make it a little different and put it on backwards
- Flannel Shirt
- I chose a green shirt to add a variety of colors
- Vest
- The vest I made. I didn't hem any of the sides and zig-zag stitched on the edges, instead, to make sure it didn't fray.
- At the bottom of the vest, I did a double stitch to add some reinforcements so I could fray the bottom without hurting the entire vest.
- I have 5 buttons on my vest. Four are black while one is an orange color. Also, all the styles of the buttons are different to add character.
- Pants
- I picked pants that were a little larger because during the time, the clothes you wore you had to make do with what you had
- I used rope as a belt.
- I am also wearing suspenders.
- For the patches, I used some scrap fabric for one knee and the same fabric I used for my vest on the other knee. I hand sewed them on.
- Boots
- We get a lot of use out of our combat boots in Acting Up. Mine accidentally got some paint on them due to tech crew, but I feel like they add to the theme.
